On The Cover

The heat and drought are taking its toll on the young trees we planted at the field a few years ago. If you go to the field, please bring some water to help the trees survive the brutal conditions.

President's Report

by Frank Sodek

Greetings, I hope you all are staying cool. Our excessive heat wave and drought are continuing, however I know there are a few diehards still flying in the heat, especially the combat pilots. And it's not much cooler in the evening for our Wednesday night training. The days are now getting shorter, however they won't be getting any cooler until we get into September.

Lance received a call from Bell County requesting a copy of the lease we have with them, however as far as I know we've never had a written lease with the County (the only written lease that I've seen is between the Corps of Engineers and Bell County). I have a lease agreement template that I received from the AMA, and will use it to generate our lease agreement with the County. I'll bring the agreement to this upcoming meeting for discussion.

Stay cool, see you at the field!

Regards,
Frank Sodek

Meeting Minutes

We did have a meeting on June 27th. However, the written document containing the notes are nowhere to be found.

Safety Officer's Report

By Lance Starzyk

Only some of the dangers in our hobby are at the flying field. At home, we expose ourselves to toxic fumes from adhesives and other chemicals as well as dangers while using tools that can injure us while working on models. Although our tools are usually small they are just as deadly. Razors, saws and drills have injured more pilots while working on models than while flying them. We need to be sure to take safety precautions when handling chemicals and tools to protect ourselves from these hazards. After all it's much easier to fly w/ both eyes and two hands with all the fingers attached.

Paul's Korn'r

She was only a whiskey maker, but he loved her still.
